Panel Discussions, Workshops & Satellite Events

A number of invited panel discussions, workshops and satellite events will take place as part of the 10th Open Science Conference. The events are interactive and encourage audience participation. These will include a panel discussion on Antarctic science and political priorities: trends, challenges, and opportunities and workshops on inclusive collaborations in Antarctic research, sharing science data and a skill-building workshop for early career researchers.

Plenary sessions and mini-symposia will feature leading experts from across the natural and social sciences.

Plenary Events

- The Weyprecht Lecture: In honor of Karl Weyprecht, one of the organizers of the first International Polar Year. Speaker to be confirmed.
- The David Walton Antarctic Science Lecture, sponsored by the journal Antarctic Science: Dr. Ceridwen Fraser, Associate Professor, Department of Marine Science, University of Otago, New Zealand
- The SCAR Medal Awardee Lecture: honorees for Excellence in Antarctic Research, International Coordination, Education and Communication

Mini-Symposia

Dedicated and interdisciplinary mini-symposia will highlight the timeliest and most cutting-edge topics proposed by the community.

- Highlights of SCAR's Scientific Research Programmes AntClimNOW, Ant-ICON, and INSTANT
- Teleconnections between the Poles and the Tropics
- Cryospheric change in the Antarctic and Arctic
- How SCAR informs and guides Antarctic policy and conservation

Recent global events meant that most meetings went online. At the same time, SCAR has committed to ensuring that its activities are conducted in a manner that minimizes its carbon footprint by example as a lead scientific advisor on global climate change. To this end this year's conference will once again be online.

The delivery of the 10th SCAR Open Science Conference will include a variety of activities and events in an innovative online format, such as a YouTube channel, chat rooms and repeat viewing options.
